Hanrahan Golf School offers scholarship training program to all Fort Collins high schools

FORT COLLINS, COLO., April 14, 2009 - The Hanrahan Golf School is committed to the youth players of today, which is why the Hanrahan Golf School is pleased to announce this summer it will offer a scholarship program to all four Fort Collins' high schools, two scholarships per school with one for a female athlete and one for a male athlete.

Over the course of the three-month scholarship training program, each student will complete nine hours of individual training with one of the Hanrahan Golf School's PGA golf professionals.

The Hanrahan Golf School is working with the golf coaches of each high school to choose the program recipients that meet the following criteria:

1. The student athlete must have a grade point average of 2.5 or higher.
2. The student athlete must love the game of golf.

3. The Hanrahan Golf School prefers freshman or sophomores – A junior could be considered, depending on the student. The student athlete must show some talent and the work drive to improve. The student's coach should submit a video of the students swing.
4. The student athlete's family lacks the money for this type of commitment.
5. Finally, the student athlete must submit a one page essay on why they would want this.

Entries are due May 15, 2009 and scholarships will be awarded May 20, 2009 so the student can make plans for the lessons during the summer.

The Hanrahan Golf School instructors combined have over 50 years of experience and have centered the school on the idea that there is a successful golfer in each and every player that walks through the door.

The programs and lessons offered are geared toward achieving personal goals – whether it's learning proper swing techniques, increasing the length of your drive or improving your handicap – the Hanrahan Golf School aims to bring out the best in every player.

Golf is unique in that it is a game that is able to reach a wide range of people – regardless of experience, talent, age or gender. In the midst of this age of technology, golf is a refreshing and exciting way to connect with other people and enjoy a timeless sport that has long-since been a staple of our culture.
